Message from the Director and Chair

2010 marks the beginning of the 25th Anniversary Year of The Scholarship Fund of Alexandria – 25 years of successful partnership with Alexandria City Public Schools resulting in more TC Williams High School graduates attending college. In that time, the Scholarship Fund has awarded more than 3,300 scholarships providing nearly $7 million dollars in scholarship awards to graduates of TC Williams High School who have demonstrated the ability and the desire to continue their education. This would not be possible without the support of the entire Alexandria community. Thank you!

We appreciate all who have contributed their time and resources to the Scholarship Fund of Alexandria throughout the year. All of the money raised through the Fall Telethon, Spring Gala and our Corporate Partner program goes to the General Fund which is reserved for need-based scholarships. These awards often fill the last critical gap in funding that a student needs to make the step into college or continued career education.

In addition to providing much needed financial resources for college bound graduates, the Scholarship Fund staff provides much needed financial aid counseling and resources to TC students as they go through the college application process. The staff also administers hundreds of privately funded scholarships in addition to the General Fund awards supported by SFA fundraising.

We thank all of you for your past commitment and your future efforts. Your support makes a tremendous difference. We hope you will have the opportunity to celebrate our 25th Anniversary Year with us by participating in our Fall Telethon (November 7, 2010) or Spring Gala (April 30, 2011).

Brandon Alexander

Senior Financial Analyst for Lockheed Martin

Brandon Alexander is literally a child of the Alexandria City Public Schools. With a mother who was an ACPS teacher at Cora Kelly magnet school, Brandon was always focused on his academics.

A natural leader and gifted athlete, at T.C. Brandon was a member of the National Honor Society and the Spanish National Honor Society, in addition to earning All-American status on the track team.

Brandon attended the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, graduating in 2003 with a B.S. in economics. Brandon is extremely appreciative of the support from the Scholarship Fund of Alexandria.

“It was really significant for me as far as being able to afford college,” he says. “My parents were going to have three kids in school at one time, with a brother a year older than me and a sister two years behind me. My scholarship relieved a big financial burden for myself and my family.”

Brandon began his career as retail buyer at Hecht’s, now known as Macy’s. Four years ago, he joined Lockheed Martin, where he now works as a senior financial analyst at the Pentagon. In May of 2010 Brandon earned a Masters in Business Administration from Georgetown University.

Brandon lives in Alexandria and passes on the gift of education to the next generation by tutoring students at Shiloh Baptist Church for the SAT and GMAT tests. Although spare time is hard to come by, he honors the encouragement that he received from T.C. track coach Mike Hughes by continuing to run. Brandon hopes to give even more back to Alexandria by coaching a youth track team.

Zohra Atmar

Senior Consultant for World Culture

Zohra Atmar’s mother carried her into Pakistan as a baby to escape the conflict in Afghanistan. Her family immigrated to the United States in 1983, where Zohra, her brother and sister were raised in Alexandria by their mother.

At T.C. Williams, Zohra, who described herself as the “funny girl with big, curly hair,” was in the Color Guard, the Asian Club, and managed the track team her junior and senior years. Zohra became involved with the Peer Mediation program and, in that role, met with President Clinton, who visited T.C. in the wake of the Columbine school shooting. Zohra’s training in conflict mediation helped set the stage for her future work in Afghanistan.

With a scholarship from the Scholarship Fund of Alexandria, Zohra was able to attend Virginia Tech. There she became more involved with multicultural issues, founding the Virginia Tech Eta chapter of Theta Nu Xi Multicultural Sorority, Inc. Zohra graduated cum laude, with a major in political science and a triple minor in history, sociology and international studies.

In 2006, Zohra fulfilled a dream when she returned to Afghanistan as a program support officer for an Afghan non-governmental organization. She joined the International Security Assistance Force headquarters in Kabul, and had the opportunity to travel extensively through eastern Afghanistan as a trainer and informal ambassador, forging common understanding between Afghan and Western personnel and citizens.

Committed to a career in diplomacy and building cross-cultural relationships, Zohra later spent time in Jordan to study religion and language. In 2009, Zohra joined Booz-Allen Hamilton as an instructor who trains military and civilian personnel on regional and cultural issues.

Deisy Lemus Brangman
Construction Project Manager

As a child, Deisy Brangman always said, “I am more of a Lego kid, than a Barbie kid”. Her life-long interest in “putting stuff together and seeing how things work” led to her current position as Assistant Project Manager for The Whiting-Turner Contracting Company. Deisy is proud of a recently completed project, The Station at Potomac Yard, a multi-use building that incorporates a LEED fire station, retail space, and 64 work force and low-income apartments with EarthCraft certification.

Born in Colombia, Deisy immigrated to the United States with her family in 1986. She spent her elementary school years in Arlington before moving to Alexandria where she attended middle and high school. While at T.C. Williams, Deisy’s interest in architecture was sparked by a technical drafting course. She graduated from T.C. in 1998 and the University of Virginia in 2002 with a dual B.A. in economics and Spanish and a minor in architecture.

After college, Deisy worked for a small architecture firm in Alexandria and at JPMorgan Chase Bank in New York City. Realizing that she wanted to “deal in real dollars,” she returned to Virginia in 2005, and began her present career in construction management with Whiting-Turner.

Deisy lives in Arlington with her husband, Gemal Brangman. She likes to travel and takes a trip outside the United States at least once a year. Through her job, Deisy recently became involved in a volunteer initiative that includes high school beautification in Washington, DC. She also volunteers with her husband for Bartending for Change, a group that donates all bartending tips to a local charity each month.

Deisy is grateful for the monetary support from the Scholarship Fund, as well as the college counseling that helped her navigate the financial aid and scholarship systems. Deisy observes that The Station at Potomac Yard “... is a special project to me as it allowed me to contribute my knowledge -- made possible by the education funded by the Scholarship Fund -- back to the City of Alexandria.”

Molly Fitzgerald
Public Health Advisor

Molly Fitzgerald spends much of her time in the West African crisis and conflict areas of Liberia and Sierra Leone, working to ensure that people have access to primary and preventative health care. Her passion for helping to meet the needs of others was born early, and in many ways began to take shape in the diverse hallways of T.C. Williams.

After receiving a scholarship from the Scholarship Fund of Alexandria for her community service involvement, Molly attended Davidson College and majored in French. She went on to study health and human rights in conflict situations at Johns Hopkins University and received a PhD. from the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine.

“When I look back on my time at T.C.,” Molly says, “I realize that I never really understood what some of my classmates whose families were refugees or immigrants had faced, or the obstacles they had overcome just to be able to be here in Alexandria. To have a house, food and access to medical care. To be able to go to school and make a better life. I took the diversity of T.C. Williams for granted, never really understanding what it represented until I began to work with refugees and immigrants after college.”

Molly worked with refugee populations in California as a volunteer with VISTA (now AmeriCorps) and later joined the Peace Corps where she was posted to Togo in West Africa. Struck by the ways in which African communities care for and support their members despite the challenges they face, Molly saw public health as a way to make a difference. Now working as a public health advisor for John Snow International, a public health research and consulting firm, Molly is helping to make basic health care more universally available.

Pongsak (Tony) Tiengtum
Technology "Titan"

Pongsak "Tony" Tiengtum has a talent for recognizing opportunity and seizing it. Tony learned this trait from his parents, immigrants from Thailand who came to America to build a better life for themselves and their children.

Tony's parents chose to settle in Alexandria because of its impressive public school opportunities. Tony entered Cora Kelly School for Math, Science and Technology and embraced the opportunity to experience how science can be an integral part of learning, arriving an hour early most days. "Science was a big part of everything we did" at Cora Kelly, says Tony, and helped to shape his interest in the sciences. Tony also began to develop his leadership skills and was elected Student Council President in the sixth grade. Tony further developed his engineering interest during middle school, serving as a Cadet with the Civil Air Patrol for three years. At T.C., he was a member of the National Honor Society and served as Treasurer of his Junior Class and Secretary of the Key Club. Tony was a member of the wrestling, swim and crew teams, and a member of T.C.'s Ultimate Frisbee Club.

With the support of the Scholarship Fund, Tony earned a B.S. in mechanical engineering in 1996 from Boston University. In 2004, he combined his mechanical engineering and business skills to launch his own company, Titan Semiconductor Tool, acknowledging his alumni allegiance to T.C. Williams. Weathering the "tech bubble bust," Tony's company is poised to become a "titan" in its field.

Married to his college sweetheart, Laura, Tony has two children, Jackson, 3, and Davin, 1. Although he lives in Orange County, California, Tony still thinks of Alexandria as home. He remains grateful and committed to the Scholarship Fund. "I always give back to T.C. Williams and the Scholarship Fund. The Fund gave an opportunity to a kid who wouldn't necessarily be able to afford college. Without that scholarship, I wouldn't be here today doing what I'm doing."

Our 2009 Telethon

- The Parents Challenge topped the total board with over $25,000 in pledges
- Generously sponsored by Comcast, the Telethon is made possible by the work of scores of volunteers including TC Williams-TV production students who donate their professional services behind the camera and in the control room.
- The ACPS staff met the challenge of an anonymous donor who offered a $6,000 matching challenge – resulting in over $12,000 to support deserving students.
